First Aid Squads Filling Ulster Need

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

While finding it almost impossible to entice doctors to practice in areas of low population density, and recognizing a sore need for speedy emergency medical coverage, residents of outlying areas in Ulster County are increasingly turning to the formation of volunteer first aid squads to provide the necessary service. And the result is that lives are saved that might otherwise be lost.

The need for the emergency service is readily attested to by the number of responses first aid squads are called on to make. The Kerhonkson-Acord First Aid Squad answered 346 emergency calls last year; the Marlborough First Aid Unit responded to 127 calls during 1972; and the Olive First Aid Unit, which first began service March 1, has already been summoned numerous times.

Of nine existing volunteer first aid squads in the county, one of the earliest to be formed was in the Ellenville area during the 1950's. Now a tenth unit—the New Paltz Rescue Squad—is on the drawing board.

The reason for the existence of the first aid units in the less populous areas of the county is quite simple: they generally provide the quickest service for emergency victims. Most doctors and commercial ambulance services are located in more heavily populated areas—Kingston in particular. In the time it might take for a doctor or commercial ambulance to arrive at the scene of a mishap 15 or 20 miles from the city, volunteer first aid units already have the victim in an ambulance and on the way to a hospital.

Most first aid squad officers agree that this need for speedy response is the main reason for their squad's existence.

Special

Doctors, too, recognize the value of the first aid units. Dr. Bartholomew J. Dutto, who will assume the post of Ulster County Commissioner of Health later this month, said: "First aid squads are a necessary part of suburban and rural living—not so much due to a lack of doctors, but for the speed with which they can transport people to the nearest medical facility."

Stating that the skill and efficiency of first aid and ambulance personnel has been greatly enhanced by regulations requiring training and certification by the state, Dr. Dutto said, "This means that they are able in many cases to make a tentative diagnosis and call ahead to have medical facilities ready for the arrival of the patient. Through this special training and ability to recognize serious conditions, many lives are saved."

Training seems to be the byword of the first aid squads as the volunteers put in many hours at mock disasters and in classes. A large percentage of first aid squad members are certified emergency medical technicians—which requires 52 hours of class study and 16 hours of voluntary emergency room assistance.

Some, such as Harriet Weber, president of the Marlborough unit, think stricter and stricter regulations could result many years from now in an impossible situation for the squads, with so many hours of class work required that no one will volunteer. But Dr. Dutto doesn't think regulations will get that strict.

But whether or not training regulations become that strict, most volunteer rescue squads are still faced with two problems—manpower and money. Most of the units are run on voluntary contributions and, of course, voluntary service. Two units—the West Hurley Fire Department Rescue Squad and the Modena Rescue Squad—are affiliated with fire departments. One—the Town of Shandaken Ambulance Service (which pays its volunteers and two full time workers)—is funded by a township.

Most units could also use more volunteers to ease the burden on those already belonging.

But with or without added help it appears the first aid units are here to stay, with more being added each year. And lives which might otherwise be lost will continue to be saved.

Another Truce Helicopter Hit by Communist Fire

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces fired on two helicopters reportedly on peacekeeping missions Monday, inflicting damage on one that forced it to land, official sources said.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

Both helicopters were on missions over the Mekong Delta. One was hit by six rounds of ground fire and forced to land at Vi Thanh in Chuong Thien Province, a region of heavy Viet Cong activity, the sources said.

The second helicopter, flying at 3,500 feet near Can Tho, a regional headquarters for the International Commission of Control and Supervision, was fired on but escaped, they added.

The helicopter damaged and forced down Monday was flying representatives of the two-party joint military commission made up of North and South Vietnam, the sources said. It was believed to be a South Vietnamese aircraft.

The second was an ICCS chopper piloted by American civilian personnel and carrying officers of the four-nation peacekeeping force made up of Canada, Hungary, Indonesia and Poland.

Both choppers were on an investigation mission when fired on, the sources reported.

On Saturday, a helicopter carrying peacekeeping officials was shot down after it was reported to have wandered off course over Communist-held territory. All nine aboard died.

A second helicopter landed safely in the Saturday incident. The South Vietnamese said six rounds of ground fire hit a South Vietnamese helicopter ferrying members of the Joint Military Commission, composed of the Viet Cong and South Vietnam. It was forced to land at Vi Thanh, a Viet Cong stronghold, but officials said nobody was hurt.

The other chopper, carrying representatives of the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision, was fired on near Can Tho but was not hit. The international commission is composed of Canada, Indonesia, Poland and Hungary.

Nine persons were killed Saturday when an Air America helicopter flying for the international commission was shot down in Communist territory in the northwestern part of the country. Another commission helicopter made an emergency landing nearby without injury to its occupants.

Those killed in the crash included the two American pilots, a Filipino crewman, a Canadian, an Indonesian, two Hungarians and two Viet Cong officers.

A Canadian official said today that his contingent to the peacekeeping group is considering withdrawing its truce observer teams from Viet Cong areas because of Saturday's deaths.

He said a decision would not be made until an investigation has been completed. But Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said in Ottawa that it would not carry out its threat to quit the international commission because of one such incident.

The Viet Cong expressed

"deep regret" for the deaths but claimed the helicopters strayed from their prescribed path "into an area where war activities exist."

Maj. Gen. Duncan A. McAlpine, chief of the Canadian military delegation denied the Viet Cong charge that the helicopters Saturday were off course. He said they were following a flight pattern approved by the Viet Cong, and the helicopter that was shot down was hit by a heat-seeking missile. Meanwhile, the Viet Cong said earlier reports that the aircraft was hit by a missile were "a distortion of the truth."

The Saigon government continued to charge the Communists with cease-fire violations. It said Communist troops early today drove a company of militiamen from their defensive position 10 miles southwest of Kontum, in the central highlands. Six militiamen were wounded and three were missing after the six-hour infantry and artillery fight, the command said.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, Communist forces sank one ship and set another afire Sunday in the first convoy up the Mekong River to Phnom Penh in three weeks. But three tankers and two freighters successfully ran the gauntlet to reach the besieged capital.

A special representative from President Nixon, Gen. Alexander Haig Jr., arrived in Bangkok today to begin a four-day assessment of the war situation in Indochina. He met with Thai and U. S. officials in the capital before going on to Vientiane, Phnom Penh and Saigon.

The Meat Boycott...Round 2

Organizers of the local meat boycott will join with consumers from throughout the United States Wednesday for a meeting with federal officials in Washington, D.C. to determine what course their price-fighting campaign will take during the next 45 days.

Several members of "Irate Housewives" plan to attend that announcement of any future boycott action until they learn Wednesday just what steps the Nixon administration intends to take to roll-back food prices.

The feeling among local organizers of the week-long meat boycott that ended Sunday is that the consumer movement played a major role in President Nixon's decision to impose a ceiling on the price of meats.

"The boycott was successful," said one consumer. "We have the support of most of the people in Ulster County, and I think they'll stay with us until we reach our goal, a roll-back of prices to the 1972 level."

Meanwhile, the Associated Press reported the new signs listing meat price ceilings appeared beside roasts, chops and drumsticks today, but the butcher's cleaver may continue to spend more time than usual stuck in his chopping block.

Spot checks with leaders of last week's meat boycott indicate shoppers leaning over counters probably aren't trying to decide which cut of meat to buy but still whether to buy.

Agriculture Secretary Butz blames "free-wheeling Congress" for inflationary state. Story on page 5.

All but the smallest stores, those with annual revenues of $100,000 or less, must post clearly visible ceiling-price signs near the items covered, according to the Cost of Living Council.

Ceiling prices must be listed for each cut of fresh meat; for 25 items representing 75 per cent of sales of processed meat, such as bacon, sausage and cold cuts; and for the 10 best-selling items of canned or bottled beef, pork, lamb or stew or soup containing meat.

A shopper who thinks the posted price is illegal should check with the store's personnel, said the council. If still unsatisfied, the shopper should call the Internal Revenue Service with such data as the price asked, whether signs were posted and the name and address of the store.

If an investigation revealed a violation, the IRS could impose price rollbacks and penalties.

Although the week-long meat boycott has ended without major retail price reductions nationwide, the possibility of further consumer action is still on a front burner.

Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N. Y., said on Sunday of the meeting of 50 consumer leaders scheduled in Washington on Wednesday to discuss follow-up action.

"My speculative guess is that there will be continuation of another week-long boycott against meat beginning midnight Saturday."

At the same time, the 2,000-member Consumer Federation of California, comprising 11 consumer and labor groups, called for a 15 per cent reduction of meat and poultry prices by May 1.

Mrs. Rose Isetti of Louisville, Ky., summed up the weeklong meat boycott for many a housewife: "I have only a vague memory of beef. Veal I have totally forgotten. It was all so long ago."

The boycott, which officially ended at midnight Saturday, generally succeeded in cutting down on meat sales. But, with a few notable exceptions, it failed to put a dent in high meat prices.

There were, however, some bright spots.

Consumers in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Maryland today will be able to refamiliarize themselves with the tastes of their favorite cuts of meat at reduced prices.

Art Lovers Mourn Picasso

MOUGINS, France (AP) — Art lovers around the world today saluted the genius of Pablo Picasso, dead at 91 after one of the most notable and influential careers in the history of painting.

The Spanish-born revolutionary who changed the course of 20th century art died Sunday at his walled estate overlooking the Mediterranean. Death was attributed to a heart attack brought on by collection of fluid in the lungs.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced. Picasso had been reported in good health and working with his usual zest despite recurrent attacks of grippe during the winter. He recently completed arrangements for the showing in Avignon next month of all his paintings produced since 1970, a total of 261 canvases.

Saturday night, the artist and his wife, Jacqueline, entertained friends at dinner. Picasso was reported in high spirits, eating heartily and entertaining his guest with stories. After the guests left, he went to his studio to work.

When he awakened Sunday morning, he complained of a pain and his wife called a doctor. But by the time he arrived 10 minutes later, Picasso was dead.

Picasso died among one of the greatest troves of 20th century art ever amassed in private hands.

He was the greatest collector of his own works, releasing only a small part of his prolific production for sale. Hundreds of these paintings and drawings were stacked away in a strong-room built onto his two-story home. He kept the key to the room himself, and only a few outsiders ever had a look at his hoard. What disposition he made of this collection in his will was not known yet.

Estimates of Picasso's wealth were considered the wildest sort of guesswork, but he was undoubtedly one of the richest artists who ever lived, and probably the richest. He was selling enough of his work to live comfortably in Paris by the time he was 30, and in the last 50 years his prices rose steadily.

Born in Malaga, on the south coast of Spain, Picasso was a child genius who seemed to never stop imagining new ways to present his universe. He mastered representational art, invented cubism to give a new dimension to painting, then turned to distortion, with the face and body taken apart and then reassembled in accordance with his own vision. Despite the wide appeal of his representational work in his Blue and Rose periods, it is the distortions that the public generally associates with his name.

Picasso's new view of his subjects led to vehement criticism and controversy. His paintings were called ugly and unworthy of the word art. The artist had an answer: "Everyone wants to understand art. Why not try to understand the song of birds? Why does one love the night, flowers, everything around one, without trying to understand them? But where art is concerned people think they must understand it."

In the end Picasso won the argument, a success with the critics, the general public and the museums and wealthy art buyers who could afford his prices.

Picasso first came to France in 1901 and settled in Paris in 1904. He made frequent visits to his native Spain until the end of the Spanish civil war, when he vowed never to return as long as Generalissimo Francisco Franco was in power.

Picasso was married twice and between his marriages had a series of well publicized liaisons. He married Olga Khokhlova, a ballet dancer, in 1918. She bore him a son, Paulo, before they drifted apart in the late 1920s.

His wife was succeeded by Marie-Therese Walter, who bore him a daughter, Maya, in 1935. Dora Maar was the painter's next mistress, and she was succeeded in 1944 by Francoise Gilot. During their 11-year liaison she had a son and a daughter, Claude and Paloma.

Jacqueline Roque became Picasso's last mistress; in 1955, the year his wife died, and he married her in 1961, when she was 35 and he was 79.

Referendum Set, Says GOP Head

KINGSTON has to be after a minimum of 60 days from the time final approval (the mayor's signature) is given to the legislation. Koenig signed the 11-ward reapportionment plan approved by the Common Council, March 27, this past Thursday.

On Friday, he told The Freeman that he was "mulling over" a decision to put the plan to referendum.

The Common Council approved the 11-ward plan by a straight, 9-4, party vote. The plan combines the present Ninth and Tenth Wards into the new Ninth Ward and combines portions of the present 11th, 12th, 13th and Fourth Wards to form the new 10th, 11th and Fourth wards.

Fabbie also contends that the Democratic plan was not passed in time (March 12) to meet the state political calendar and that therefore it has no legal standing until it is approved by the voters in referendum. Fabbie said he will file nominating petitions for 13 aldermen under the present plan. Lawrence E. Woerner, City Democratic chairman, told The Freeman on Friday that he would do the same.

No Identification of Body

ELLENVILLE in the water. A missing persons check in the area brought no results.

Police were continuing today to attempt to identify a body found floating in the Rondout Creek in Ellenville on Friday.

Fingerprints have been taken from the man's body and are being processed by State Police and the FBI for possible identification, according to Sgt. John Corwin of the Ellenville Police Department.

In addition vital organs from the body were to be taken to the State Police lab in Albany today for examination, Corwin said.

The body was found snagged on an overhanging tree branch Friday morning behind a house at 37 Rosslyn Avenue by an Ellenville fisherman, Ernest Schwab.

The partially decomposed condition of the white, fully-clothed body has led authorities to believe it had been in the water for some time.

Ellenville Police said the man appeared to be over 45 years of age and was found face down

Carry Vital Supplies to Phnom Penh

Ships Break Communist River Blockade

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Five ships sped through a rain of artillery fire under cover of U.S. bombs and bullets Sunday to break a 19-day Communist blockade of the Mekong River and carry vital supplies to Phnom Penh.

Two petroleum tankers and three cargo ships were part of an original relief fleet of 19 vessels that left South Vietnam for the Cambodian capital.

Despite heavy bombing raids by American warplanes, including B52s, a Communist artillery barrage against the convoy set a Panamanian cargo ship ablaze on the river and forced 13 other ships to turn back. The rest of the convoy was reported reforming to make a second attempt today.

The ships that made it to Phnom Penh carried fuel, food and ammunition, all in short supply after Communist forces severed all main land and water routes.

The Communist-led offensive in Cambodia had cut all major supply routes to the capital and fuel supplies were exhausted and food stocks dwindling when the ships broke the Mekong blockade.

Earlier, U.S. Air Force C130 Hercules transport planes had started an airlift of ammunition and other war supplies into the capital and other government strongholds encircled or endangered by Communists.

Capt. Lo See Chang, who piloted the Panamanian cargo ship Lucky Star on the hazardous 60-mile voyage up the Mekong, said an initial Communist attack hit the convoy while it was still in South Vietnam. He said most of the ships then turned back to the port of Tan Chau in South Vietnam.

"I've sailed this river 20 times and this was the worst trip I've ever had," he said.

Lo said his ship made it into Cambodian waters and, as it raced up the river, it was hit with several rounds of artillery fire, bazooka shells and at least 100 rounds of small arms fire.

The only casualty reported in the operation was a seaman wounded when his ship, the Ali, caught fire on the river.

Lo reported heavy American air support pounded both sides of the river in advance of the convoy, but appeared to have little success in silencing Communist guns.

Nixon Studying Indochina Reports

ARRIVAL — Special Presidential Envoy, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., talks with U. S. ambassador to Thailand, Leonard Unger, on his arrival in Bangkok today to start four days of consultations on the tense military situation in Cambodia. On his 12th tour of Indochina in three years, General Haig will visit South Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and the new U. S. military headquarters for the region at Nakhon Phanom Air Base in Thailand. (UPI)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — more than two months after the President Nixon today studied confidential reports from his personal envoy to Indochina to find out why fighting continues, chief of staff and one of his favorite military-political trouble shooters, to make a first-hand assessment of the situation in Southeast Asia.

The Haig mission to Thailand, Laos, Cambodia and South Vietnam probably is intended as another indirect signal to Hanoi that Nixon is considering countermeasures if the Communists ignore the truce signed Jan. 27 in Paris.

In answer to a question, Kissinger said although some cease-fire violations had been anticipated, the fighting has continued longer than expected. He said the duration of the continued fighting, which includes U.S. bombing raids over Cambodia, was not on the outer limits of the time frame envisioned by American analysts.

Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu last week accused Hanoi of serious violations of the cease-fire. In a communique after two days of summit talks, the two presidents warned of "appropriately vigorous reaction" if the Communists did not abide by the Paris accords. The sort of action was left intentionally vague.

As Nixon prepared to board his jet from California to Washington Sunday, he was presented with a resolution, hand-lettered on Himalayan goatskin, naming him the "first citizen of the century" of Orange County, Calif. The county, just south of Los Angeles, includes Nixon's birthplace of Yorba Linda and his present San Clemente residence. The mayor and the county seat city of Santa Ana, Lorin Grisette, told Nixon, "We believe God put you in charge of this country; you've inspired us when we needed inspiration."

MIA's Mother: 'I Saw My Son'

CHICAGO (UPI) — A wall plaque from Cambodia and a visa-stamped passport are the only remnants of Phyllis Allard's trip to Southeast Asia. They are not enough to convince the U.S. government she talked to her son and spotted 25 other captives in a Viet Cong prison camp.

The government has listed Spec. 4 Richard Allard, 25, missing in action for nearly six years. "But I saw my son. I touched him, I talked to him and I saw at least 25 other men there," she said.

Washington verified her trip, she said. "But they couldn't find the camp, so they called my story inconclusive. Every time I talk to them, it's like talking to a cement wall. They wouldn't reclassify him a POW," she said.

The attractive, 46-year-old woman said she left for Southeast Asia the end of January, 1972, carrying pictures of her son made from a film clip the government had.

Information from Tokyo's Communist newspaper, Nihon Dampa, led her to what she called the Kontun area on the Vietnam-Cambodia border. She refused to identify the city.

"I contacted former Cambodian Ambassador Nuy Gan Van Thieu," she said. "And I showed my pictures in hotels, stores and all around the city. I said I was interested in talking with Viet Cong officials about my son."

Two days later, she said, the Viet Cong sent two men to her. "I don't know why they did it," she said. "I guess they were impressed with me. They said how brave I was for coming there alone. I guess it was a lark."

They took her to see a North Vietnamese official, Nuy Gan Quai Sing Tung, she said. "A Japanese reporter, Sagamoto, was with me when Nuy Gan Quai Sing Tung told me they had my son."

She said Nuy Gan Quai Sing

Tung led her to the prison camp, but "the Viet Cong were furious I was there," she said. "One even hit me in the back of the head," and they sent her away.

"But I found my way back there," she said. "And I told them three or four times, so they would understand, that I had Nuy Gan Quai Sing Tung's permission. And I had a right to see my son."

The hastily placed blindfold fell off her eyes as the guards took her down a passageway deeper into the encampment. She sat in a small barren room, she said, and they brought in her son.

"He looked so weak," she said. "I thought he was going to fall."

She said she turned to scold the guards for Allard's treatment. "And when I turned back," she said, "they were leading him away. Then they took me by the arm and led me out, too."

She said she saw 25 other prisoners, all bound, in another room.

But there's no proof of the visit. And the government maintains that all American prisoners are out of Southeast Asia. "I know it sounds like a fairy tale," she said. "But why would I make up a story like that? Notoriety? I think I'd be made a fool of."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, Soviet Union and China reached "some understanding" to maintain peace in South Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu believes.

In a television interview broadcast Sunday, Thieu said he did not know what kind of assurances were made "but I think if the North Vietnam accepted to sign an agreement and to observe a cease-fire and to end the war in South Vietnam, it must be something behind it."

Thieu: 'Understanding Reached'

Thieu was asked if he believed the agreement involved reducing military supplies to North Vietnam.

"I think that the most practical way to guarantee the peace and to secure this ... is that," Thieu replied. "It's the first thing which must be done."

Thieu said he believed his forces could deal with any new Communist offensive without U.S. intervention as long as South Vietnam maintains its superiority in air power. He was asked if South Vietnam would need American air power.

"Yes, we'd never ask the American bombardment," Thieu said.

The interview was recorded before Thieu left the United States Saturday for Rome after a one-week stay in the United States that included a conference with President Nixon in California and appearances in Washington and Texas.

Thieu appeared on CBS' "Face the Nation." Thieu said he did not believe the Communists could overrun Cambodia "so fast" but he said force, Thieu said.

New York Life suggests you should provide your family with considerably more.

If you're like most people, you already have some life insurance. Your mind is at ease.

But take a look at it. If all you've got is $5,000 worth, you really only have what people used to call "burial insurance"—enough for final expenses, a decent funeral, and that's about it.

And if "burial insurance" is what you own, then obviously you don't have enough to do what life insurance is designed primarily to do: protect the living.

The soundest, surest way to provide basic financial security for your family is through an adequate and well-planned life insurance program. If you should die, it will guarantee your wife and children the money to continue living a decent life.

How much life insurance would that take?

That depends on your special needs. Your New York Life Agent can help you analyze your requirements, then develop a program within your means. See him soon.

We guarantee tomorrow today.

Second Half Revenues Show Increase

Parking Garage Shows Profit in First Year

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — "You don't really notice it sitting there in that booth, but a lot of people use this place," Joseph White, manager of the Uptown Parking Garage said, reviewing the garage's first year of operation. In fact, according to White's annual report, a total of 46,600 cars paid an hourly rate of ten cents each during the period from March 1, 1972 to March 1, 1973.

Overall, during that period, the garage had revenues of $21,225.95 against operating expenses of $20,074.13 for a "net profit" of $1,151.

White's report also lists operating expenses incurred prior to the opening of the garage on March 1, 1972, a total of $4,570.41, which compared to his overall "net profit" of $1,151.82 during the period when the garage was charging for parking, gives a net deficit of $3,428.59. The garage was open for some three months with free parking and those expenses were charged against its overall revenues.

White's report shows a marked increase in usage during the second half of the garage's fiscal year, from September of last year to March of this year. "I think we turned the corner in August," White said. "Things have picked up considerably since then." First half transient traffic (March-August, inclusive) for instance shows 17,883 vehicles using the garage while the second half shows 28,717, an increase of some 60 per cent.

"It's at least proven that it can be a (financially) viable operation," White said in assessment of the first year of operation. "We're fortunate in that we received excellent cooperation from the mayor, Common Council and the Uptown Businessmen's Association."

The garage has three employees, White, the manager, paid at the rate of $7.875 per year, and two part-time employees, William Weaver and Frank Lyle who work two hours a day each and are paid at the rate of $2.10 an hour.

White reports "no accidents at all" in the garage during the first year of operation and "no structural problems whatsoever."

He said that there have been no instances of forced break-ins of cars reported to him although there have been cases where unlocked cars have been entered. "I patrol the garage as much as possible," White said, "but it's just like any other parking lot. We urge people to lock their cars."

The parking garage was built at a cost of some $720,000 by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency and completed in the fall of 1972. It has a capacity of 340 vehicles.

Rates are ten cents an hour for transient parking up to eight hours and a dollar for parking from nine to 12 hours. Open parking in the rear of the garage costs $8 a month and covered parking costs $10 a month. Twenty-four hour parking on a monthly basis costs $15.

Fire Fighting Bills Introduced by Fish

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. has introduced a package of nine bills, all aimed at providing federal assistance in improved fire fighting techniques for the nation.

"With an average of 200 firemen killed annually in fighting fires in which some 12,000 other Americans lose their lives, with a property damage exceeding $2 billion annually, I believe it is clearly time a unified federal program be launched to reduce this staggering toll," Congressman Fish said.

The nine bills proposed by Congressman Fish would, if enacted:

Create a National Fire Academy.

Provide for a system of federal grants of up to 50 per cent in matching funds to help finance the cost of training programs for firemen.

Give the Secretary of Commerce authority to make grants to colleges and universities for up to one-half the cost of fire science programs.

Create a program of 50 per cent matching grants to local fire departments to assist in the purchase of advanced firefighting equipment.

Provide grants of up to 90 per cent of the cost of purchasing firefighting suits and self-contained breathing apparatus.

Extend the authority of the Secretary of Commerce to carry out fire research and safety programs.

Establish a national fire data and information clearinghouse in the National Bureau of Standards.

Amend the Flammable

Fabrics Act of 1967, so as to extend its provisions to materials used in the construction of home interiors.

Authorize the issuance of regulations by the U. S. Department of Transportation regarding transportation of certain potentially flammable materials in interstate commerce.

Library at Bard Will Get $50,000

ANNANDALE-ON-HUDSON — The Kresge Foundation of

Birmingham, Mich. has approved a $50,000 grant toward the enlargement of the Hoffman Memorial Library at Bard College, according to an announcement made today by

of The Kresge Foundation, pledged to the library fund now informed Dr. Kline that the total $351,000, and college of foundation's board of trustees officials are extremely optimistic had voted to participate in the current fund drive, which will double the library's facilities.

with the building of a $500,000 addition.

The Kresge Foundation's gift is contingent on the college's raising the balance of the costs by Nov. 15, 1973.

In thanking Baldwin and the foundation's trustees, President Kline expressed the college's gratitude for the "psychological lift" vital to a campaign at the two-thirds mark; gifts and pledges to the library fund now informed Dr. Kline that the total $351,000, and college of foundation's board of trustees officials are extremely optimistic had voted to participate in the current fund drive, which will double the library's facilities.

LIBRARY BENEFIT—Carl Peters and Evy Navy rehearse a number for tonight's Library Radio-Television, which will be broadcast over Kingston Cablevision and WKNY from 8-11 p.m. The event is intended to raise funds for the Kingston Area Library. Tonight's show will also include a performance by Terry Dwyer of the Coach House Players. Many other local entertainers have volunteered their services for the Library fund drive.

Judicial Panel Names Rosenblatt

POUGHKEEPSIE

Dutchess County DA Albert Rosenblatt has been appointed to serve as a member of the Advisory Committee of the Judicial Conference on the Criminal Procedure Law.

The announcement was made by Thomas F. McCoy, State Administrator of the Courts, and was approved at a recent meeting of the Administrative Board.

In a letter to Rosenblatt, McCoy stated: "As you are aware, this Committee plays a vital role in recommending to the Judicial Conference legislative proposals to keep the CPL up-to-date and to improve this important body of law."

"It also performs an important function in screening proposals in the Legislature amendatory of the CPL and in conducting long-range studies in the field of criminal procedure," he said.

Chairman of the group is Patrick M. Wall, Esquire.

Deadlock Continues at Wounded Knee

PISTOL-PACKIN' MAMA — Actress Debbie Reynolds was arrested and released without bail in New York City for illegal possession of a .45-caliber revolver after she brought her 15-year-old son, Todd, to a hospital with slight wound he had received from playing with it. The weapon was loaded with blanks. (UPI)

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — The confrontation of Wounded Knee, thought to have been only a telephone call away from settlement, today remained deadlocked over the disarmament procedures of the militant Indians occupying the Pine Ridge Reservation village. The federal government's chief negotiator said a final solution of the occupation of Wounded Knee would not come unless the Indians laid down their arms and allowed U.S. marshals and FBI agents to enter the village.

However, a CBS television crew which entered the village Friday as a "pool" representative of all the press, said militants entrenched in the village said disarmament still hinged on "satisfactory negotiations" in Washington between the White House and American Indian Movement leader Russell Means.

In an interview with UPI in Washington, Means said, "The government proposal which is in complete violation of the agreement (for simultaneous laying down of guns) is that they wanted 75 marshals and 200 FBI agents to come into Wounded Knee while they brought food in. While Indians (were) eating, they (would) sweep the area looking for guns. When they made that proposal last (Saturday) night, Dennis (Banks) — when I finished talking with him — was laughing — said he asked that after meeting for three hours they get down to serious negotiations now that the joke is over with."

Banks is an AIM leader who remained in Wounded Knee and was the one who rejected the disarmament proposal Sunday, the CBS TV crew said.

Assistant U.S. Attorney General Kent Frizzell said, "The White House will not meet with Means while guns are pointed at federal officers at Wounded Knee."

Frizzell outlined the government's position again Sunday when he met with three hours with Indian leaders in a yellow school bus in the demilitarized zone at Wounded Knee to work out an agreement on the disarming of the Indians. Frizzell said everyone at the meeting, including Carter Camp, the principal Indian spokesman, agreed to the detailed proposal and a for al Indians to stockpile their weapons before the marshals entered the village. Claim White House Aide Passed 'Test'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For knowledge of last year's Water-gate bugging conspiracy, his W. Colson took and passed a lie detector test in an effort to prove he had no advance aid Sunday that Colson, who former chief of security for President Nixon's re-election committee who was convicted of participating in the Water-gate break-in, is reported to have told a special Senate committee that he learned from fellow conspirators that Colson did know in advance about the operation.

McCord last month told U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica that political pressure was applied against defendants in the Watergate trial to remain silent and to plead guilty. He also alleged that James W. McCord Jr., the

'Boycott Some Congressmen;' Secretary of Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz says "this free-wheeling Congress" is to blame for the general inflation that he considers a principal cause of high meat prices.

Instead of boycotting meat, Butz said Sunday, housewives ought to say: "We are going to boycott some of these high-spending congressmen and we could avoid a $15-billion tax increase and avoid this kind of inflation we are having."

In an interview with two other Cabinet members on NBC's "Meet the Press," Butz said he opposes extension of the meat-price ceiling to other foods and denied that the Nixon administration had been deliberately pushing up meat prices over the past several months.

He said it was "Mrs. Consumer" who drove up prices, and who, with her boycott, is trying to reduce them again.

He predicted meat prices will drop below the government ceilings when increased supplies begin arriving on the market by late summer or early fall.

Butz said he opposes strong controls on all food prices, especially if accompanied by a rollback which he contended would call for some rationing.

The secretary, who is counselor to President Nixon on natural-resource matters, said that last week's meat boycott probably will help consumers but would not if it continued indefinitely.

"I have a strong suspicion a part of the boycott meant that people were eating out of their refrigerators, which means they will replace it next week," free-wheeling, free-spending Congress we have up here," Butz said.

Those protesting high meat prices ought to target in on the real cause, which is this free-wheeling, free-spending Congress we have up here," Butz said.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, APRIL 9, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The chief Republican investigator for the Senate Watergate committee, to his mortification, lost his little black appointment book the other night at Washington's Carroll Arms bar.

It fell into Democratic hands and wound up after two days with Rep. Richard Hanna, D-Calif. He delivered it at once to the Watergate committee.

Sources who have seen the datebook tell us it indicates Thompson met with Attorney General Richard Kleindienst twice during the last week of March. The entries on each day read simply "Kleindienst," then under a later time the same day "Committee."

Once, Thompson arranged an appointment with Kleindienst an hour before a committee meeting. The last entry for April 2 reads "AG," with the word "summary" scrawled across.

My associate Mike Kiernan asked Thompson what he was doing huddling privately with Kleindienst. Thompson admitted meeting several times with Kleindienst but insisted he acted under the direction of Sam Dash, the chief counsel. "I was only trying to expedite our getting the FBI files on the Watergate," said Thompson.

This was confirmed by Dash who explained he didn't accompany Thompson to see Kleindienst "because I felt Thompson would get the data faster if he went alone." Dash thought Thompson's Republican credentials would give him better entree with Kleindienst.

The attorney general agreed to cooperate with the committee, but insisted all information be channeled through him. Last week, Thompson finally arranged for Dash and himself to spend four hours at the Justice Department poring over raw FBI files.

WASHINGTON WHIRL
McCord's Business — Watergate conspirator James McCord, while awaiting sentence, has opened a private security agency in Rockville, Md. The man who headed the infamous Watergate break-in squad is interested in security work and private investigations, say his partners, not in divorce cases and door-busting activities commonly associated with "private eye" work. One of the three directors of the new firm, "International Security, Inc.," is his loyal wife, Sara Ruth. The other partners are Louis Russell, veteran Capitol Hill investigator, and Alfred Green, office manager. Maryland law enforcement sources tell us that integrity, character and competence are requirements for a private investigator's license.

Tax Headaches — More and more harassed taxpayers are turning to the Internal Revenue Service for help in preparing their tax returns. Yet not even the government's tax experts seem able to master the complex forms. A private memo to IRS regional commissioners notes: "A review of 160 tax returns prepared by Service personnel in one of our districts disclosed that 35 (21 per cent) contained a total of 71 errors. In addition, . . . 20 out of 29 returns were prepared with an incorrect tax liability." Despite the preparation problem, and IRS spokesmen told us, the agency is eager to help people with their taxes. Many people who aren't "tax smart," he said, fall prey to unscrupulous private tax preparers.

Navy Watchdog — While Air Force cost-cutter Ernest Fitzgerald fights his firing over the $5 billion C5A air transport boondoggle, an ex-Navy lawyer is doggedly waging a similar battle against his dismissal. The lawyer, Robert Barnes, had turned up evidence of fraud on Navy aviation equipment contracts worth millions. Barnes' superiors, apparently embarrassed by Navy blunders in administering the contracts, ordered Barnes to back off. But Barnes persisted and the Navy fired him. The aggressive Barnes is particularly outraged because he claims he has seen FBI reports that back up his charges. The Navy contends that Barnes' dismissal is justifiable because of his "insubordination." Barnes claims he acted out of loyalty, not insubordination at the Navy, and is fighting the discharge in both the Civil Service Commission and the courts.

Modern Dreyfuses? — Persons charged with a federal crime can be incarcerated for life without ever being tried. Under an obscure federal law, 292 persons were put in mental institutions last year after being labeled incompetent to stand trial. A Justice Department spokesman acknowledged that the present system could result in people becoming "lost in the bureaucratic shuffle" and forgotten. He also acknowledged that the law could be used by unscrupulous attorneys or judges against their political enemies. Most of the accused incompetents are sent to the U.S. Medical Center for Federal Prisoners in Springfield, Mo.

Inside Report

Labor's Schism

By ROWLAND EVANS and

WASHINGTON — While chairman Robert S. Strauss was masterfully balancing opposing interests at a meeting of the Democratic National Committee, organized labor's ideological schism over political action visibly deepened.

Never before had the National Committee been the target of such open lobbying from bitterly opposed factions of labor. For three days, the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) struggled with liberal-led unions increasingly hostile to COPE's policies. Strauss' compromises prevented bloody confrontations but failed to mollify either side or prevent new resentments.

Thoughtful union officials from both camps are apprehensive about this divided state of labor's political action at a time when President Nixon is deadly serious about his courtship of working people, a majority of whom supported him against Sen. George McGovern. It is not altogether fanciful to think that Mr. Nixon, aided by the big, rich Teamsters union, could take advantage of the schism and consolidate Republican support in labor's ranks.

The split has long been building. Under the hard-boiled leadership of Al Barkan, COPE has viewed the Democratic party's leftward drift as ruinous to the traditional Democratic loyalties of workers and a road to political oblivion. But younger, more liberal labor politicians, refusing to follow COPE's direction, have been allying themselves with the party's reformist left wing.

The break was sealed with McGovern's candidacy. COPE withdrew into non-benevolent neutrality, but 33 AFL-CIO unions joined the independent United Auto Workers (UAW) in endorsing the Democratic ticket. It widened after the election when COPE successfully promoted, without support from several individual AFL-CIO unions, Strauss for national chairman. Political action directors for pro-McGovern unions — chiefly the UAW, the Communications Workers, the Retail Clerks — began meeting in groups of two, three or more. A luncheon at the Touchdown Club in Washington, attended by a dozen or more labor operatives, featured detailed criticism of Barkan and COPE.

The issue for combat became Strauss' pledge to name eight labor leaders among 25 new members of the National Committee. Barkan insisted on eight AFL-CIO stalwarts, seven of whom had not endorsed McGovern. The liberal unions retaliated with a slate of four pro-McGovern union presidents.

Strauss was in a seemingly impossible dilemma. He owed his election to COPE and, as he informed the party's executive committee last week, COPE had promised 200 members of the Sponsors Club at $1,200 a head — a quarter-million-dollar nestegg for the impoverished party. But a confrontation would threaten Strauss with defeat or, at best, a bloody victory.

Strauss began casting around for places on the committee for two leading non-COPE labor candidates, Floyd (Red) Smith of the Machinists and Joseph Beirne of the Communications Workers. Both live in Maryland, but both refused Strauss's offer (cleared with Gov. Marvin Mandel) to become a national committeeman from that state. They demanded the prestige of being at-large members.

So Strauss replaced a non-labor member of his slate of 25 (southern California party chairman Charles Manatt) with Smith. That was still not enough. Communications Workers, cranking up their political action machinery, nearly succeeded from COPE, applied intense pressure on the committee to select Beirne. Consequently, Strauss scratched another non-labor candidate (Miami Dolphins owner Joe Robbie) and replaced him with Beirne.

But that was not the end of it. Against Strauss's wishes, COPE launched an underground campaign to purge six regionally selected members of the executive committee. Strauss contemplated removing one of them, militant reformer Arnold Alperstein of Colorado, but decided the bloodshed would not be worth it. With Strauss genuinely neutral, COPE lost all six contests. The last bit of intra-labor bloodshed saw Smith win a COPE candidate, Frank Raftery of the Painters union, lose bids for new seats on the executive committee.

Only Strauss seems to bridge the gap between the two factions. Even though he is clearly COPE's ally, Barkan is sometimes unhappy with him for being too "soft." For their part, anti-Barkan labor liberals were happy with Strauss's skill and wisdom in last week's compromise. Despite these unique advantages, his forthcoming effort to prevent all-out war between labor's political wings is far from the least of his monumental tasks in rebuilding the Democratic party.

The Book in all of Us

BERRY'S WORLD

"It says, 'I hate to make you feel badly, but the weather up north has been absolutely beautiful' . . ."

Every fourth adult in America has a fantasy that he can write a book. At least, so it seems to the professional writers who sit with me and sip tea and munch Lorna Doones. Few people, it seems, dream that they can build a better bridge or try a murder case, or run the country. They always ache to write a book, an automatic bestseller.

They pen urgent letters to writers begging: "How can I get into your racket?" Everyone has a story to tell. Some are great yarns. Many are nonsense. The most prolific neophyte authors are physicians. They keep notes, waiting for that day of retirement and a portable typewriter. Actors are second. Most of them are sure that millions of people will shell out $7.95 to read about their life-long love affairs with themselves.

The sad truth is that book publishers churn out about 30,000 trade books each year — most of them written by professionals. All are in competition with each other. The pro who is second or third-rate writer gets by writing sensational material. Top-flight authors like Bruce Catton, Stephen Birmingham or Norman Mailer, may sweat out a book which requires five years of labor — only to lose sales to a one-time prostitute named Xaviera Hollander, who limps through an assortment of confessions.

I have completed two years of work on a book to be called: "Roosevelt: The Dark Days." It is a year from publication, and it is an intimate portrait of a sick man. But suppose — just suppose — Jacqueline Susann comes out with a novel about James Dean's secret sex life. Or someone writes "The Naked Housewives' Cookbook."

Do you think anyone in his right mind is going to select my book over the other two? Crazy. If the prudes of America can't make it, they will pay to read about somebody who can.

This morning I received a Special Delivery letter from a lady in Ohio who wants to write a book. She doesn't ask whether she can write professionally. All she asks is where to mail the masterpiece.

She hasn't started yet. I surmise she finds time on her hands at age 55, and, overnight, she has decided to tell all. The lady even enclosed some teaser copy so that I would drool over what she's going to reveal.

Like Grace Metalious, who exposed her whole town in an alcoholic expose called "Peyton Place," this woman opens with a murder mystery. It involves a girl, of course, who was probably violated by a fiend. This revolting character may now be working his way through all the married women of the neighborhood, who despise him but find their knees knocking when he says "Hello."

She wants to tell how "I left town" as a growing child with a girl friend. This is a brand new theme, in which the writer remains chaste, but the girl friend usually succumbs to the first truck driver who has to make a pit stop.

Another girl friend, young and pretty, was killed by a berserk husband who, one guesses, had no appreciation for strange men standing in the bedroom covered by a guest towel. Somehow, in these books, misunderstood wives get murdered. A band of young hoods buried the innocent wife of one of the gang "because she knew too much."

There is much to be said for knocking off people who know too much. Especially if they have loose lips. It's an old American custom. It would be a far better world if we popped off people who know too little. But, in matters of murder, we are in a rut.

I assume the would-be author has a husband. And children who are grown — perhaps writing their own books. If, by chance, they live in a rural area, there should be a scene where someone is caught in a hayloft with some innocent thing who really didn't know what she was doing. She was under a spell at the time. The innocent thing kills the beast with a pitchfork, or her husband does it by setting fire to the barn.

Perhaps, instead of a book, my correspondent has a first-class movie. My wife would shell out $2.50 to see how it comes out. If, in addition, it is a tear-jerker, Kelly will dig for $3, just to have a good cry.

"All this I would like to tell someone before I burst," the author writes. "Who, Mr. Bishop?" Who indeed. I don't want to see any 55-year-old woman burst. My mother taught me to be kind to 55-year-old women. Not too kind, she said. Just mannerly.

Well, first you buy a copy of the "Literary Market Place," published by R.R. Bowker Co., 1180 Avenue of the America, New York. It lists all publishers, agents, etc. Then you write to them, as you did to me. Crouch behind the mail box with your fingers in your ears. . .

Memoriam

In loving memory of my sister Josephine Jones who passed away one year ago today, April 9, 1972.

The depths of sorrow I cannot tell,
Of the loss of one I loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep,
Her memory I shall always keep.

Albany Grand Jury Probes

'The Hospital Incident'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — An Albany County grand jury is scheduled to continue its investigation Tuesday into an incident at the Albany Medical Center involving several state legislators and a 20-year-old female technician.
The panel heard more than three hours of private testimony from four physicians and a woman before recessing Friday.
Dist. Atty. Arnold Proskin declined to say whether legislators would be asked to appear before the grand jury Tuesday or in the future.
When he commissioned the grand jury March 19, Proskin said the panel inquiry "would not necessarily be for obtaining indictments," but would aim primarily to obtain the "true facts."

Pioneer 11 Switched on As Jupiter Approaches

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Two instruments aboard Pioneer 11 were turned on Sunday as it cruised at 20,000 miles an hour toward on its 20-month journey to Jupiter.

A signal from the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., activated the cosmic ray telescope that the 570-pound space probe will use to monitor the radiation belts of Jupiter. It also turned on a magnetometer, which will measure the giant planet's magnetic fields.

Pioneer 11, launched Thursday, was 1.75 million miles from Earth Sunday night, and was to reach the two-million mile point by 9 p.m. EST today, said scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena.

Some scientists believe that the likelihood of encountering life elsewhere in the solar system is greatest on Jupiter. The Jovian atmosphere is rich in water, methane and ammonia — "the same stuff which

CHARLES G. RODMAN
PRESIDENT
THE GRAND UNION COMPANY

DEAR CUSTOMER:

EFFECTIVE IMMEDIATELY, THROUGH THE MONTH OF APRIL, I HAVE INSTRUCTED OUR STORE MANAGERS TO SET ALL PRICES ON ALL CUTS OF FRESH BEEF, PORK, LAMB, AND VEAL AT LEAST TEN CENTS A POUND BELOW OUR ALLOWABLE CEILING PRICES.

FRANKLY, THIS IS GOING TO COST US MONEY, BUT I'VE TAKEN THIS ACTION FOR SEVERAL REASONS. I FEEL IT IS IMPORTANT THAT WE HELP TO RE-ESTABLISH AN ADEQUATE FLOW OF MEAT FROM FARM TO TABLE. WE ARE DOING THIS AT A TIME WHEN WHOLESALE PRICES FOR MEAT, THE PRICE WE PAY, ARE AT OR NEAR, ALL TIME HIGHS.

I BELIEVE THE ACTION WE ARE TAKING TO HELP STIMULATE THE MEAT SUPPLY LINE WILL RESULT IN PUTTING BACK TO WORK THE BUTCHERS, AND OTHERS IN ALLIED FIELDS, THAT HAVE BEEN TEMPORARILY LAID OFF.

IN ADDITION TO SETTING THE LOWER FRESH MEAT PRICES, WE WILL MAKE FURTHER REDUCTIONS IN RETAIL PRICES FOR FRESH MEATS IF REDUCTIONS IN WHOLESALE COSTS MAKE IT POSSIBLE. FURTHER WE WILL CONTINUE TO OFFER YOU A FULL SELECTION OF WEEKLY SPECIALS AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE PRICES.

WE WANT YOU TO SHOP AT GRAND UNION. WE WANT TO DO MORE. WE ARE DOING MORE.

SINCERELY,

CHARLES G. RODMAN
PRESIDENT,
THE GRAND UNION COMPANY

WINDOW SILL GARDENING

Gardening is fun for everyone, says Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist. It is too early to do much gardening out of doors. So why not try what I like to call "kitchen gardening," that is start with items from the refrigerator, vegetable bin or even the garbage. Not much space is needed, just a window sill. A window sill garden not only entertains a child, but teaches him about growing things and the responsibility of caring for them. Start with some easy "fun" things that grow quickly. For example:

Pineapple Plant — Slice off the top two inches of a fresh pineapple and dry it on a saucer for about 10 days. Next plant it in a small container or sandy soil and keep it moist. In about four weeks the roots will sprout and the pineapple plant will need to be transplanted into a large pot filled with sandy potting soil.

Orange Trees (or Grapefruit) — Seeds from oranges and grapefruit can be soaked overnight and planted in rich potting soil. Keep well watered and in a sunny spot. The plant will have dark glossy leaves and grow into small trees.

Carrot Plants — Slice about one inch off the top of a carrot and place in a saucer containing enough water to cover the bottom of the carrot. Place in a sunny window and watch the top grow into a tiny green bush.

Sprouting Is Fun To Watch — Soak a few kernels of corn or lima beans overnight. Moisten a piece of cotton and put into the bottom of a glass. Place the kernels on top of the cotton (which must be kept moist). Watch for the sprouts.

Sweet Potato Vine — Set the narrow end of a sweet potato in a glass of water and put it into a dimly lighted place (closet or cellar), until it begins to sprout (about 20 days). Put the plant in a sunny spot and water daily.

Avocado Plant (from the seed) — Wash and drive three toothpicks into the sides. Suspend it with the broad end down into a water filled jar. The water should cover half an inch of seed. Place in warm location out of direct sunlight. Sprouting will begin in two to six weeks. When the main stem reaches a height of six inches, cut it back midway between the top and bottom. When roots are good and thick, and the stem has leafed out, the plant is ready for potting.

Reception Planned For Foreign Students

A reception and opportunity for the community families to meet Onteora's two foreign students, Grant Cormack and Flor de Maria (Mary) Duque, is planned for Wednesday at the Community Room, Olive Free Library, West Shokan, at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Vivian Moscovitz, president Onteora Chapter, AFS International Scholarships, will explain how Onteora High students may travel and study in foreign countries for a summer or an entire year, as Americans Abroad. Dr. Frank Marlow, Onteora District Superintendent of Schools, will detail the assistance given by the School District to both guest foreign students and Americans Abroad.

Grant Cormack, from Queensland, Australia, is the guest of the George Sullivans, West Hurley. Mary Duque's American family is the Dwight Baldus' of West Hurley. Both are Seniors at Onteora this year. Mary is a Peruvians Abroad student.

Slides and discussion with Grant and Mary will give the opportunity to better understand their countries and the United States through the eyes of a young foreign student.

Refreshments will be served by Cadet Corp, G.R. Scouts, Troop 86, with their leader, Miss Susan Cronan.

Anyone wishing further information may call Mrs. Vivian Moscovitz, Woodstock, or Mrs. Beatrice Snyder, Olivebridge.

Auditions Set for Talent, Beauty Pageant

Young ladies between the ages of three and 17 and residing in Ulster, Greene, Columbia and Dutchess Counties will be interviewed and auditioned for the 1973 State Pageant on Thursday, April 19 at 6 p.m. Auditions will be conducted at the YWCA at 209 Clinton Avenue in Kingston.

A field director from the Pageant Headquarters will select five girls to represent their community in the State Finals.

Three to six year olds will be auditioning for the title of Miss Petite; seven to 12 years old for the title of Little Miss and 13 to 17 years old for the title of Miss Teen. One girl from each of the two older divisions will be selected purely on her creative or performing arts to compete at the State Pageant this summer.

Girls in the younger division will be judged on their poise, personality, ability to take direction and beauty. Young ladies in the two older divisions will be required to perform a talent display of approximately one to three minutes and will be instructed how to walk and turn on the runway. Girls of all ages will be interviewed.

At the State level five girls will be selected to represent the State at the International Pageant and will receive all expenses for the contestant and chaperone while attending the International Finals. $2,500 in cash scholarships will be awarded to the winners to be used for furthering their artistic development.

The age of the contestant on December 31, 1973 will determine her age division. A phonograph will be provided at the auditions. All other sources of music must be brought to the audition.

Girls who play large instruments such as pianos or organs and those desiring further information, should contact the International Pageant Headquarters, 169 Lake Street, Elmira, New York, 12901.

CHARLIE LEE and his band will provide music for dancing Saturday, May 5, at St. Catherine Labourer Church hall, Tutenbridge Road, Lake Katrine. Sponsored by the Holy Name Society of the Church, in addition to dancing, there will be a buffet and awards. The event is slated to begin at 9:30 p.m. Reservations may be made with Robert Peck, chairman, or Walter Rishoff, president of the Society, both of Kingston. (Bill Dunn photo)

Go Gourmet Oriental Way

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Oriental dishes prepared at home help stretch the budget dollar, add to the reputation of the cook as a gourmet chef and please family and guests. An Oriental Beef and Sugar Peas dish is simple and requires much less chopping or ingredients than called for in many Far Eastern dishes.

Oriental Beef and Sugar Peas

One beef flank steak
One tablespoon cooking oil
One (seven and one-half ounce) package fresh bean sprouts or one (one-pound) can
One-half pound fresh sugar peas
One bunch green onions
One (ten and one-half ounce) can consommé
Three tablespoons soy sauce
One teaspoon slivered fresh ginger root (or one-fourth teaspoon powdered ginger)
One and one-half tablespoons cornstarch

Two tablespoons cold water
Slice steak diagonally across grain, brown quickly in hot oil, then remove from skillet. Cook rinsed bean sprouts, peas and chopped onions in same skillet a few (5 to 10) minutes. Add undiluted consommé combined with soy sauce and ginger. Cover and cook about two minutes. Stir in cornstarch mixed with water. Cook, stirring, until clear and thickened. Combine with beef strips mixing lightly. Makes six servings. (Note: To cook in electric skillet at table, arrange vegetables in small bowls, consommé mixture in pitcher and cornstarch paste in small cup.)

(Newspaper Enterprise Assn)

A DISH to prepare at the table is Oriental beef and sugar peas.

Spring Conference

Anna Coons, Red Hook VFW Auxiliary 7765, presided over the Department of New York Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary president and member of the Red Hook Auxiliary, presiding.

A luncheon was served honoring National President Lola Reid and President Coons. The Red Hook Auxiliary received a citation and banner for having 100 per cent membership, and Red Hook Auxiliary President Joan Blank received a citation from the Department President from outstanding leadership and dedicated service to the VFW Auxiliary during the past year.

Friday evening, Auxiliary, Post, and Honor Guard members attended the Gold Chevron Ball held in the Commodore Hotel Ballroom. The national president spoke Saturday afternoon on the various projects of the Auxiliary and commended Mrs. Coons on an excellent conference.

Community - Wide Program for Youth; Committees Named

Jane Friedman, president of the Esopus Little League Auxiliary, has announced the selection of committees for a community-wide program that will enable teams in the local league to obtain free bats and baseballs this season.

The program is sponsored by Scott Paper Company, in cooperation with Little League Baseball, whose International Headquarters is in Williamsport, Pa.

During the season, Scott will give away to Leagues nationally, up to $300,000 worth of approved Little League baseballs and bats. Every "Seal of Quality" on a package of ScottTowels, ScottTissue, Scotties Facial Tissue, Waldorf Family Scott Bathroom Tissue or Scott Family Napkins will be redeemable for five cents in value towards bats and baseballs for the leagues that send in seals.

The Esopus Little League Auxiliary is asking cooperation of all local residents in saving the seals from specified Scott product packages to help this league obtain baseballs and bats.

"The Little League movement has made it possible for hundreds of youngsters in our area to take an active part in the country's national game of baseball," Mrs. Friedman said.

"In addition to physical activity which contributes to the fitness, vigor and vitality of our youth, Little League Baseball builds qualities of fair play, cooperation, discipline and leadership. Our activities are family-oriented and inspire all members of the family to work together." Little League Baseball in 1973 marks its 34th year of service to youth. It began in Williamsport, Pa., in 1939. Today, there are more than 2,000,000 youngsters enrolled and more than 50,000 teams compete in 31 countries of the world.

Residents are asked to deposit seal, in containers that will be located at the League ball fields during games. Seals also can be mailed to the Seal-Saving Committee Chairman, Jane Friedman at 154 Lampman Avenue Port Ewen.

Seals may also be picked up at residents' homes in response to a phone call to 331-3617.

It is an opportunity for public-spirited neighbors to get behind a campaign that will help local youngsters, Mrs. Friedman said.

THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS ...it tells you how

A few weeks back, this column casually mentioned that "a firm in the Midwest currently sells reclaimed barn siding for $2.25 a square foot." As a result, THE MOTHER EARTH NEWS has now received several requests for more information from individuals and companies that want to buy old barn siding at that price! Clearly, there's a market for weather-beaten recycled lumber.

Well, we still haven't located that midwestern firm... but we've learned of a central Oregon man named Jay Tilson who has made a thriving business of dismantling old buildings in that state. Jay systematically scours the countryside within 50 miles of his home and notes every sagging barn, shed and shack on a "Future Boards Map". Tilson then makes a deal with the owner of each structure (we've found that such people will often give these buildings to anyone who'll truck them away) and carefully takes it apart.

The more weather-beaten and mossy the boards, the better Tilson's customers seem to like 'em for use in paneling bars, rumpus rooms and ski lodges. Jay sells his lumber for $1.20 a square foot and enjoys a brisk business. MOTHER's experience seems to indicate that others can easily do the same.

Knicks Eliminate Bullets

Monroe and Lucas—Pure Magic

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Earl Monroe performs magic on the court; Jerry Lucas is a professional magician off it.

Sunday in New York's Madison Square Garden, Monroe and Lucas joined their Knicks teammates to do something magical: they made the Baltimore Bullets disappear.

By virtue of the Knicks 109-99 victory, Baltimore was not only eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs in five games, but also from the NBA. Next season the franchise will move to Largo, Md., a suburb of Washington D.C.

In Sunday's other NBA action, Chicago topped Los Angeles 98-94 while the Atlanta Hawks defeated Boston 97-94. All the active NBA playoffs, including Golden State and Milwaukee which resumes play Tuesday night in Madison, Wis., are now deadlocked at 2 games apiece.

In the ABA on Sunday, Utah defeated San Diego 120-99 to erase the Conquistadors 4-0 in their best-of-7 series.

On Saturday in the NBA, Golden State knocked off Milwaukee 102-97.

While over in the ABA Saturday, Virginia and Denver were both eliminated in five games. Kentucky beat Virginia 114-103 while Indiana defeated Denver 121-107. Elsewhere, Utah nipped San Diego 97-96.

Baltimore's weaknesses on defense and on the bench caused the Bullets' downfall. A despondent Coach Gene Shue, who may not accompany the franchise when it moves next season, said: "You just can't beat the Knicks without good defense. Normally in the playoffs, the defense gets better—but ours got weaker instead of stronger."

As he has done throughout the playoffs, former Bullet Earl Monroe combined with Walt Frazier in the backcourt to finish Baltimore. Monroe led the Knicks with 26 points, 20 in the first half.

For the Knicks' next trick, "I'll take on the winner of the Boston-Atlanta series in the Eastern Conference finals, Sunday at the earliest."

In Chicago, Bob Love scored 38 points and sparked a fourth-quarter rally to overcome the Lakers and even the series at 2 all.

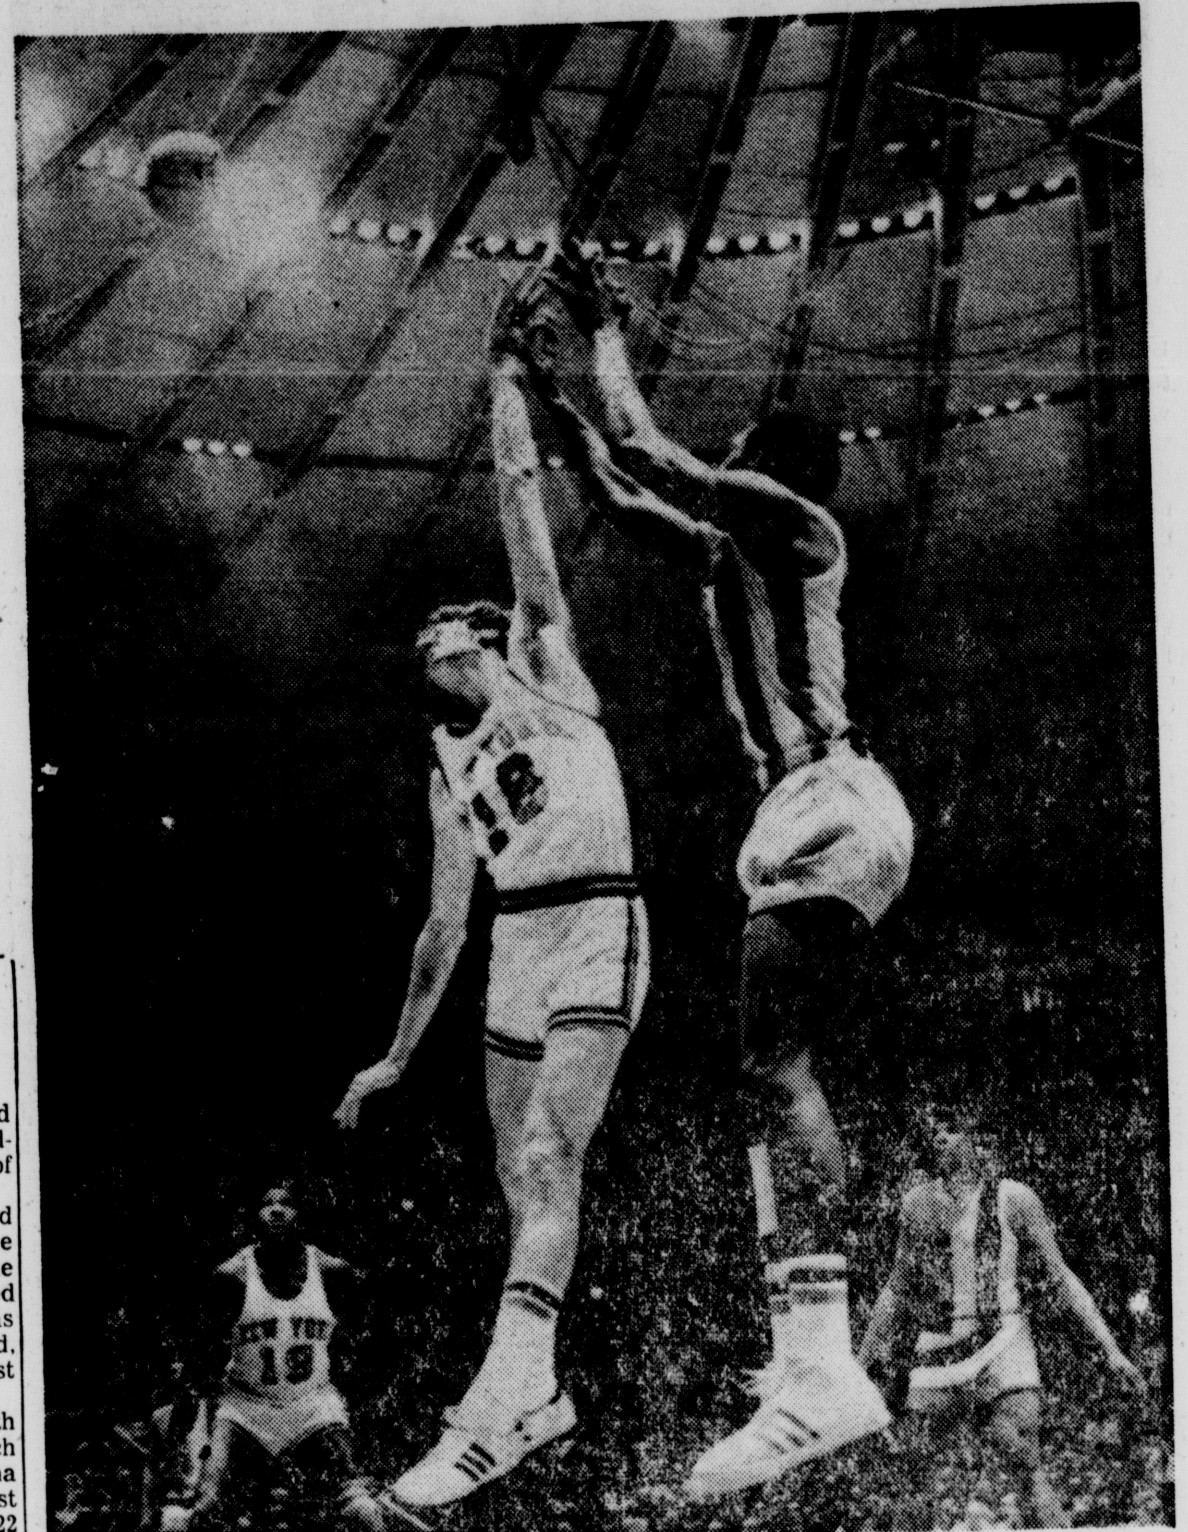

"Our offense is geared to our forwards," acknowledged Bulls' Coach Dick Motta, "and when Chet Walker isn't hitting, Bob Love has to do his thing."

With Walker connecting on only one of his first 10 shots, Love did his thing 16 times. His basket midway through the final period put the Bulls ahead to stay 87-86.

Obviously Atlanta's Pete Maravich has a similar philosophy. He scored 13 of his 37 points in the fourth period to hold off the Boston Celtics. "Maravich was up for the game," said a smiling Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons. "He played a super game."

The Hawks had spurred to a 77-63 lead after three periods but the Celtics came roaring back with 14 consecutive points, six by John Havlicek, before Maravich took control. Atlanta's Lou Hudson added 28 points while Havlicek finished with 21.

Utah's victory over San Diego was its 12th straight first-round victory over a three-year period. Ron Boone and Willie Wise combined for 19 points in the third period, equalling San Diego's output, and 49 points, overall.

TWO TALL ONES — Baltimore Bullets' Elvin Hayes leaps high to get shot over outstretched arm of Knick's Phil Jackson (18) during NBA playoff series in New York City, Sunday. Knick's Willis Reed (19) and Bullets' Wes Unseld (41) watch. Knicks won, 109-99 to take series, 4-1. (UPI)

Sickler's, Pipers Gain Semi-Finals

KINGSTON It was a meeting between the old and the new — and as it generally happens, the new won.

Sickler's Delivery, the current 4th ranked (nationally) Ulster County Community College basketball team in disguise, defeated some of Coach Mike Perry's older UCCC hands — playing under the Massa's Enterprise banner — 103-93 Sunday night at the municipal auditorium to gain the semi-final round of the Kingston Basketball tournament.

In the other quarter-final, the durable Felicello Pipers of Marlboro downed DeFranco Dodge of Peekskill, 128-114.

The semi-final matchups for next Saturday night are: 7 p.m. — DeMico Motors vs. CWA of Newburgh and 8:15 — Sickler's vs. Pipers.

It was stritly a shooters' night, as the four teams amassed a total of 437 points among them and the twinbill was studded with brilliant individual performances.

The Sickler-Massa contest was a well played game in which the superiority of Sickler's was never in doubt.

Jackie Knowles and Rod Chando enlivened the proceedings with a little sideshow of their own.

Coleman Link, who dominated the boards, and Jerry Moss, the interim UCCC coach while Mike Perry is on sabbatical, scored 12 and 10, respectively, as Sickler's opened up a 57-47 lead, after the teams tied for the last time at 16-16.

Chando, who led Massa's with 24 points, collected 12 in each half, and John Zuvic, ex-Siena star, added nine in the first half. Link and Moss potted 22 points each and Henry Nixon, sporting a new coiffure, added 15 for Sickler's. Zuvic finished with 19 for Massa's.

The Pipers, who never miss a tournament within 50 miles of Marlborough, jolted DeFranco's with a 60-point explosion in the first half to lead 60-47. Bill Gray, the night's highest scorer with 35 points, rimmed it and Charles Delmonico hit 19 for the Pipers. Bill Brickhouse led DeFranco's with 12.

The teams turned the auditorium into a shooting gallery in the second half with 135 points between them. Sam Brown, ex-New Mexico State who was dormant with only four points in the first half, exploded for 25 after the recess and Brickhouse, a 33-point performer, added 21 as DeFranco's held the Pipers 68-67 in the second half.

Delmonico contributed 28 points for the Pipers. Brown had 29 and Nate Carter 20 for the Dodge boys.

Coach Rich Amato of Sickler's will be without the services of two big guns — Link and Knowles — for next Saturday's semi-final with Felicello's. The two UCCC stars are headed for Florida to visit one of the colleges.

Amato expects to bring in a replacement in the person of Bill Pleas, a 6-6 former teammate of Jerry Moss' at University of Detroit.

The Pipers are tournament-tested and they're always tough," said Amato. He also flet that if Tom Riker is available, DeMico's should beat CWA of Newburgh.

Chris Topples Evonne

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI) — At age 21, Australia's Evonne

Goolagong has three years on Four Lauderdale star Chris Evert, and the more-seasoned veteran thought she could beat her young opponent at her own game. She was wrong.

In the finals of the $20,000 USLTA Sarasota Women's Open Sunday, Miss Evert used her usual steady backcourt groundstroking to beat Miss Goolagong in straight sets of 6-3, 6-2.

The $5,000 first prize went to Miss Evert who has now won four of her first five pro tourney starts.

It was a rematch of their amateur match last year, which Miss Evert also won. For Miss Evert it meant her 1973 winnings are boosted to $31,000.

The 3,000 fans at the Sarasota Bath and Racquet Club were evenly rooting for both young ladies, but after Miss Evert broke service in the first set to move ahead 5-3, it was obvious that Miss Goolagong's tactic of also playing a baseline match would fail.

Her first charge to the net in the first set was prophetic. When she did catch up with Miss Evert's precise topspin lob she only could drive it into the net.

Miss Evert said when Miss Goolagong is in top form the Aussie might be the better of the two. But "today she wasn't," the blonde Floridian said.

Miss Goolagong admitted she never "got started" in the match, but added that Miss Evert, "didn't give me much of an opportunity to get started."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Margaret Court says she hates to lose, so she doesn't.

She dominated both singles and doubles play here this week as Australian entries romped in the first $50,000 Max-Pax Open Tennis Classic at the Palestra.

Mrs. Court took only 38 minutes to win the singles title, 6-1, 6-0 over fellow Aussie Kerry Harris, then teamed with Lesley Hunt to capture the doubles crown.

"I moved her around a bit," Mrs. Court said of her $12,000 singles victory, her eighth in 10 Virginia Slims tournaments this year. She has now won $59,850 on the circuit this year.

"The thing that is so great about her is she's so tough," the 22-year-old Miss Harris said. "She's not going to give you a game. She concentrates making every shot. When she stops concentrating, I guess she'll be retired."

"I hate to lose," Mrs. Court admitted. "If I play for $100, I play as hard as I would for 100,000."

HOUSTON (AP) — Defending World Championship Tennis titlist Ken Rosewall met his former ball boy Fred Stolle today in the finals of the River Oaks-American General Invitational Tennis Tournament.

After Stolle was convinced to show up for the match. "If Rosewall makes the finals, I'm going to forfeit," Stolle joked after he gained the finals with an easy 6-4, 6-1 victory Sunday over Tom Okker of the Netherlands. "We've played about 20 times and I've won once."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market opened mixed today, following a marginal rally on Friday. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down almost a point, but advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange took a slight lead over declining issues, 319 to 239.

Analysts said inflation was still the major problem confronting investors. Friday's moderate market gain followed a report that Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns was urging President Nixon to impose a general wage and price freeze.

General Motors was the most active on the Big Board, down 1/4 at 71 1/2. Central Illinois Light was the second most-active, unchanged at 22 and third most-active was American Cyanamid, up 1/2 at 27.

The stock market rebounded from an extended decline Friday with advances outpacing declines 874 to 531 among the 1,770 issues changing hands.

The Dow, which had fallen about 36 points during the five previous sessions, recovered 7.61 points on Friday to close at 931.07.

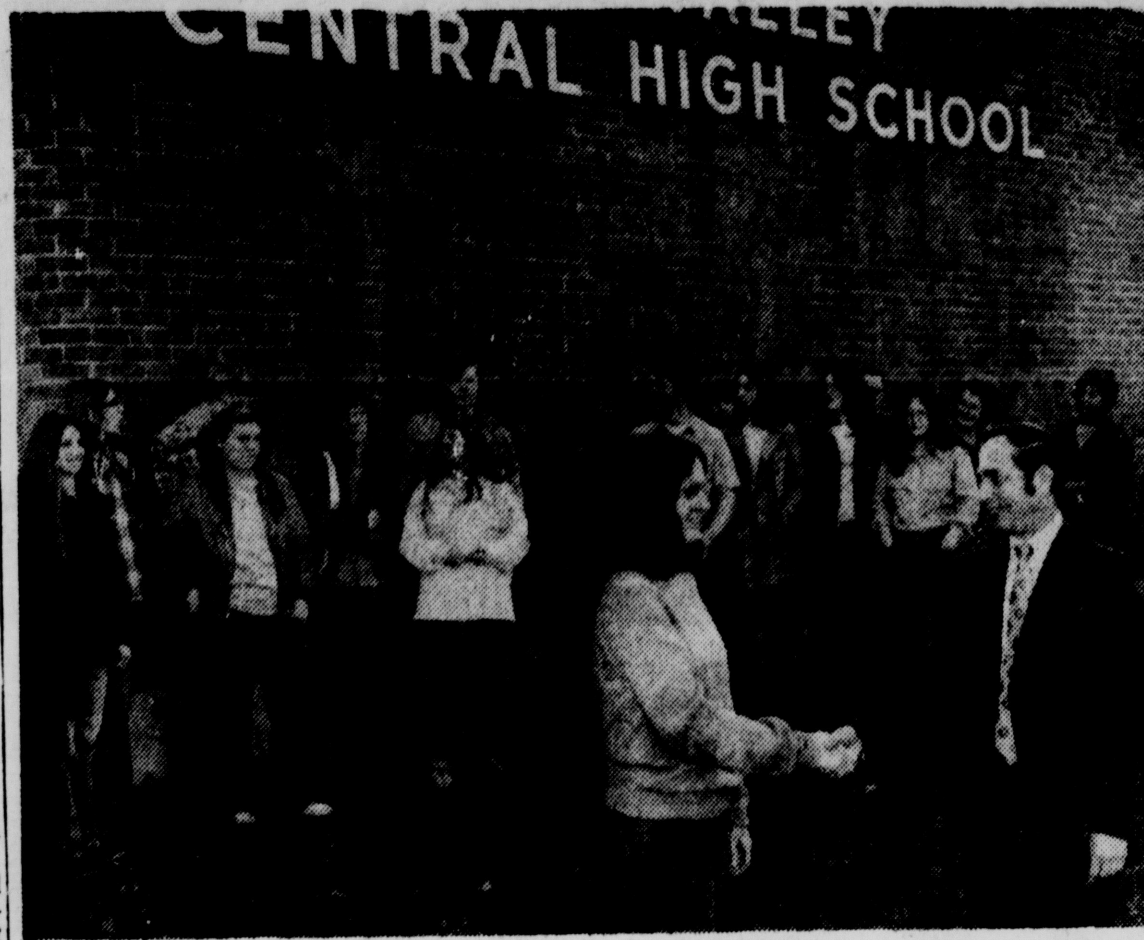

Quotations by Loeb, Rhoades and Co., members of New York Stock Exchange and American Stock Exchange, Kingston Plaza, Kingston, N. Y. Joseph Garvita, resident manager. Phone 331-1900.

Dollar Weakens; Gold Is Down on Money Market

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar and gold weakened today on European money markets.

Gold on the London free market opened at between $90.25 and $91, but after the official morning fixing of its price, it was quoted at $90.75, a fall of 25 cents from the close Friday.

"The gold market has been very quiet so far today with little happening," said dealers. Pound sterling held steady against the dollar and stood at 2.24854, about 10 points higher than Friday.

The pound sold between 2.4825 and 2.4835 at the opening, but soon started climbing.

The dollar dropped slightly in Frankfurt, trading at an average of 2.8390 marks, fractionally below its 2.8400 closing Friday. Bankers described trading as normal.

The dollar also weakened slightly in Paris, where the commercial rate was quoted at 4.525 to 4.530 francs against the Friday price of 4.5450 francs. The financial rate changed hands at 4.54 to 4.545 francs against 4.54 francs last Friday. On the Brussels free market, the dollar sold at 39.10 francs. There was no business in Zurich because of a Swiss holiday.

Arab Guerrillas Attack Israelis

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Arab guerrillas blew up the Israeli ambassador's residence in the heart of Nicosia today and tried to hijack an Israeli airliner at Nicosia International Airport.

The guerrillas engaged in running gun battles both outside the ambassador's residence and at the airport with Cypriot police and Israeli security guards.

A government spokesman said one Arab was killed and two were captured at the airport. A fourth Arab holed up somewhere in the airport terminal building and exchanged fire with police and troops after the incident.

One Cypriot policeman on guard outside the ambassador's residence was shot and seriously wounded by the guerrillas who planted a massive explosive charge at the front door of the three-story apartment building.

The facade collapsed. Ambassador Rahamim Timor and his family who were in their second-floor apartment escaped unhurt. Witnesses at the airport said three Arab guerrillas in a gray gate and, firing guns, headed the car drove at high speed across toward an El Al Viscount about to take off for Israel. The three men jumped out of their car and tried to seize the plane.

INVITATION FOR BIDS
The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency will receive sealed bids for the RESTORATION PROJECT ON WALL STREET in the City of Kingston, New York, known as the "Pike Plan" (Phase I) of the Kingston Urban Renewal Project No. N. Y. R-121.
The work consists mainly of the construction of a lighted canopy along the east side of Wall Street from John Street to North Front Street, and on the south side of North Front Street from Wall Street to Fair Street.
Note that certain work on the building fronts above the canopies which consists mainly of cleaning and painting will be done under a separate contract.
Bid proposals will be received until 2:00 o'clock P.M. on the 27th day of April, 1973 at the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, 436 Broadway, Kingston, New York 12401.
Contract documents, including Drawings and Technical Specifications, are on file at the office of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, 436 Broadway, Kingston, N. Y. Copies of the Contract Documents may be obtained by depositing Fifty ($50) Dollars with the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency for each set of documents so obtained. Each such deposit will be refunded if the Drawings and contract documents are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after the bid opening.
A certified check or bank draft, payable to the order of the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency, negotiable U. S. Government bonds, or a satisfactory Bid Bond executed by the bidder and an acceptable surety, in an amount equal to ten (10%) percent of the amount bid shall be submitted with each bid.
The successful bidder will be required to furnish and pay for satisfactory performance and labor and materials payment bonds in the amount of not less than one hundred (100%) percent of the contract amount. An acceptable surety company is anyone included in the latest issue of the U. S. Treasury Department Circular 570 listings.
The Kingston Urban Renewal Agency reserves the right to reject any and all bids or to waive any informality in the bidding. Bids may be held by the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days after the date of the opening of the bids for the purpose of reviewing the bids and investigating the qualifications of the Bidders, prior to awarding of the contract.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: troublesome situations that keep a charming smile ever make it difficult to accomplish present. Otherwise you may your aims. Steer clear of have considerable friction with making snide remarks yourself, others and can get into some and avoid those who have a

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

HORSES: (Q.) I am 13 and I am going with a boy 13½. We like each other a lot but there is one problem: he has a thing on horses.

Every day he goes up to the stable. If he would come home around 7 o'clock it would be all right and I wouldn't mind. He stays at the stable until late at night, especially on Friday, when he is supposed to come to see me.

He says he likes me and I believe him. Would you please advise me what to do.—Poor Second in Pennsylvania.

(A.) It is natural for a boy of 13 who likes horses to want to spend more time with his horses than with his girl. This will not be true later, but it is now, and you should accept it. If you push the issue you may lose his friendship and be worse off than you are now—sharing him with the horses.

SECRET PLAN: (Q.) My sister is 16 and has been running around with a 25-year-old man for a month now that I know of. They plan to run away and get married next month because my parents would never sign for her.

In fact, they don't even know she is seeing him. If they did they would beat her to death.

I've told her she's crazy and it won't work out, but she just tells me to shut up and walks away. I'm scared to tell my parents because I'm scared of what they will do. Please tell me what to do and hurry!—Afraid in Virginia.

(A.) First try reasoning with your sister again. Try to get her to see that in marrying at 16 she is making a mistake that she may regret all her life.

If she continues to refuse to listen to you, tell her that you feel obligated to discuss what you know with your parents. Invite her to go with you to your parents and talk about it.

If she won't, you must do it alone. Be as diplomatic as you can both with your sister and your parents. Urge them to try to see her viewpoint.

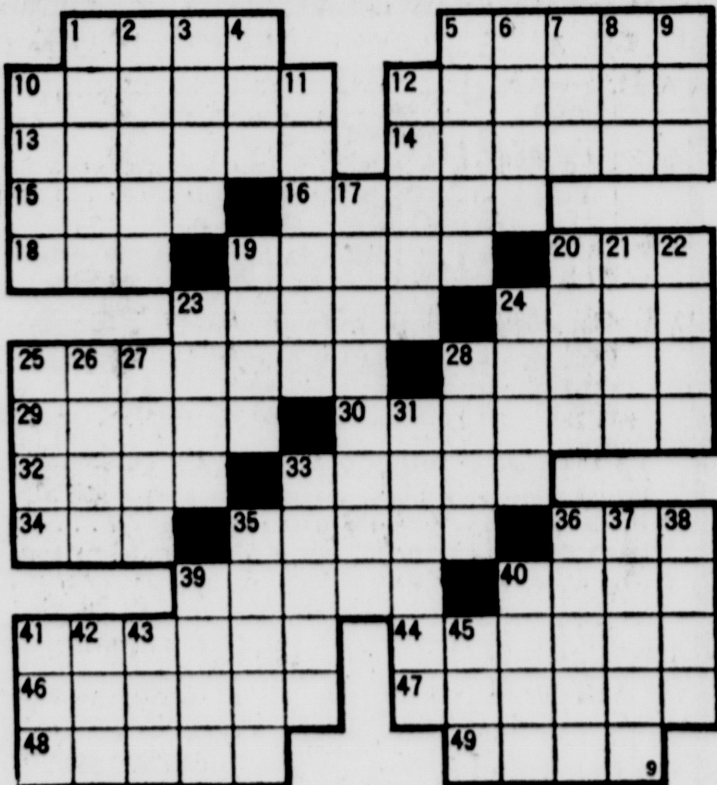

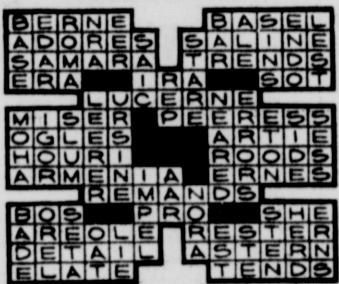

I do not believe they will beat her. I believe they will see this as a matter too serious for that kind of approach.

(Jean Adams reads and considers every letter, but she regrets that she cannot answer each personally. Mail your questions or comments to Jean Adams, care of The Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001.)

Answer to Previous Puzzle

tendency to be critical.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) There are problems at home that need wise handling in a diplomatic way. Add articles of beauty to home and make it look more charming, comfortable. Impress those who visit there.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Pleasing allies more opens the way to greater success and happiness. Some letter or telephone call may not be as distressing as you think. Study it well and you may find it is just the opposite.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A little effort and money can make your property more comfortable and valuable now. Talk over some money problem with experts you know and get good advice. Don't forget to show proper appreciation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Doing favors for good pals makes you a more delightful and happy person. Think more about the romantic side of your life and bring more happiness into it. Get business deals handled wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Plan time for doing what will help those you like very much. Make arrangements now for social affairs in the future. Find the right way to make yourself more charming and please others more.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) See what can be done about pleasing good pals in a social way and get better results with them in the future. Get into group meetings that are pleasant and charming now. Think.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show true ability at whatever your duties may be today, whether of a business or personal nature. Acting in a sour way can be very bad now. Prove you have wisdom and a good sense of humor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You may think that new ideas are good, but it is wise to carry through with whatever has been found acceptable and worth while now. Get into the studies that can be most helpful to you. Avoid that person who gets on your nerves.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you handle present tasks wisely, you will save both energy and time, as well as cut down on expenses. Do not scold attachment but use diplomacy for best results. Capitalize on your finest talents.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you study how your partners treat you, you know exactly what should be done to establish greater rapport. Do not get into that public affair that could lead to a big dispute. Avoid that person who argues too much.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Before you tackle all that work ahead of you in the outside world, improve your appearance. Let your relationships be pleasant. Use common sense in handling any health problems you may have.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't argue about that financial affair and do the things that really please you. You need to be more creative, but don't get others involved. Working alone is your best bet now. Get to bed early tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people with understanding and a charming smile that bring fine success in dealing with others, plus the ability to help ease the burdens of others. Show appreciation for the devotion your youngster gives you as parents. An ideal chart here for the big government person, a religious leader, teacher, lawyer. Give as fine an education as you can. Ethics early, too.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for May is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast The Daily Freeman, Box 629 Hollywood, Calif. 90028.

'Bob and Carol'... TV Series

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," a weekly half-hour situation comedy series based on the hit movie of the same name, will be featured in ABC-TV's new fall program lineup. It is the latest network television attempt to transfer the contemporary social attitudes of motion pictures to the home screen.

Television being a basically conservative medium, even with its new trend toward more social frankness, viewers can be certain that "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice," which as a film dealt with the, shall we say, unique relationship of two couples, will be considerably more tame as an ABC-TV series.

Anyway, here is the way that ABC-TV describes its version of "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice." It is, says the network, "about two young couples and their families who cope with today's problems from different points of view" — which is about as bland a description as you can get about a show (probably purposely phrased this way by ABC-TV to ward off any advance viewer complaints).

In the more traditional vein of television, Lorne Greene, the longtime father in video's now-defunct Western "Bonanza" series, returns to the home screen in ABC-TV's fall schedule as a private eye in a weekly hour entry, "Griff." Greene, who plays the title role, portrays an ex-police captain who has two young assistants, a woman and a man.

Gone from ABC-TV's weekly fall lineup are "The Mod Squad"; the Julie Andrews variety show; "A Touch of Grace" (Shirley Booth as a widow); "Here We Go Again" (about newlyweds, each previously married, whose ex-spouses live in their neighborhood); "The Paul Lynde Show" (lawyer with a generation gap problem with his son-in-law); and "The Men," a trilogy of alternating agent-type programs entitled "Delphi Bureau," "Assignment: Vienna," and "Jigsaw."

Miss Andrews will return to ABC-TV next season in six hours of programming expected to be "theme, holiday and musical-comedy" shows and Lynde will return as the star of "Temperatures Rising," a series already running.

Other new weekly series in the ABC-TV fall lineup:

- "Toma." Hour based on experiences of a real-life policeman whose devices include imaginative disguises. Tony Musante stars.
- "Mr. and Ms." Half-hour comedy about a young married couple, both lawyers—one in general practice (Blythe Danner), the other an assistant district attorney (Ken Howard)
- "ABC Suspense Movie." 90-minute anthology. Once a month, this series will offer a show called "Cyborg," about a test pilot (Lee Majors) who, "nearly killed in a plane crash, is re-created by means of futuristic, cybernetic medical science with a superhuman body" and is given governmental assignments.

Jim: "The results of IMP team matches in which a hand is played twice and the results compared tends to simulate rubber bridge problems."

Oswald: "It certainly does. An overtrick is just worth an IMP but a well played game or slam is likely to be worth 3 IMPs."

Jim: "South ruffed the heart opening and rattled off a lot of trumps. Eventually he had to lose a diamond, but did come out with 17 tricks. North did not like missing the slam, He pointed out that if South had opened with one or two clubs the slam would have been reached and seven could have been made."

Oswald: "He's right about that. South could make seven by a rather unusual line of play and six clubs certainly is a good contract."

Jim: "North was also partly right about the result at the other table where that South club was to open with two clubs. He did get to seven clubs, but he did get to play it. East and West were also right to let the table and defended at seven clubs. They were down three

Attends Class from Dutchess Hospital

School's in Session for Patient

CARL PACH 'IN CLASS'

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK School is still very much "in session" for Carl Pach of Red Hook, even though he's a patient at Northern Dutchess Hospital.

Carl lost his right leg in an auto accident March 2. He is now recuperating from surgery performed by Dr. Kenneth Appell of the hospital medical staff. In time he will transfer to a special rehabilitation center. Meanwhile, through a joint effort of the Red Hook Telephone Company, Red Hook Central School, and the hospital, he can clearly hear his 8th grade class in session, from daily by means of a two-way communication system set up next to his bed. It looks something like a walkie-talkie. When Carl turns on the set, there is a lot of lively bantering back and forth, with Carl's classmates obviously enthusiastic about keeping up the conversation. Carl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pach II, expressed thanks for the special efforts made by the Red Hook Telephone Company, which completed the normal two-week installation in only two days.

They also expressed their appreciation to the hospital and to William Fitzmaurice, principal of the junior high school, who helped coordinate the system.

It was felt by hospital staff that Carl's remarkably good spirits are certainly, in part, due to his classroom participation, which plays a large part in his hospital day.

And there's homework, which he is required to hand in daily, and frequent visits from teachers.

So there is still a classroom for Carl, even though it takes place right from his hospital bed until he can rejoin his classmates in person.

Onteora Central District

School Budget Hearings Scheduled

BOICEVILLE Hurley Elementary school; and Dr. Frank Marlow, superintendent of the Oneteora Central School District, has announced dates for scheduled public hearings on the district's proposed 1973-74 school budget. Public hearings will be held April 10 at the Phoenicia School; April 17 at the high school in Boiceville; April 18, a joint meeting of Woodstock and West Hurley at the West Marlow will be held Wednesday, April 18 from 2-9 p.m. at each school in the district. He emphasized that town election registration does not qualify anyone to vote in any annual school election. Dr. Marlow noted that it is not necessary for previously registered voters to re-register if they have voted in one of the last two annual school elections. Last year's BOCES election, however, does not count.

Persons who have moved from one polling center to another within the Oneteora district should, said Dr. Marlow, re-register in the new polling center, and give the registrar the change of address. Also, said Dr. Marlow, anyone who casts his regular election vote outside the Oneteora School District is not qualified to vote in the annual school election. Lists of qualified registered voters will be placed in all local post offices within the school district for the convenience of residents of the district. Persons not included on these lists should register on April 18.

A qualified school district resident voter is any male or female American citizen, at least 18 years of age, who has lived in the district for 30 days prior to May 2, 1973. The resident need not be a homeowner taxpayer. Dr. Marlow said the district's goal this year is for 100 per cent voter participation in the annual May 2 elections. The increased numbers of new residents in the district, he said, make voter registration information especially necessary, and added, "We may place ads in all local papers in a final effort to reach everyone."

Catskill Mt. Branch ...An Alternative

SHOKAN A possible alternative to abandonment of the Catskill Mt. Branch of the Penn-Central Railroad will be proposed by Donald L. Pevsner, Miami attorney and rail enthusiast, when he speaks to members of the Catskill Center for Conservation and Development on April 14 at Kass' Inn, Margaretville. The Catskill Center has gone on record as opposing abandonment.

Calling it the "most beautiful branch line east of the Rockies," Pevsner observed that it is only an hour and a quarter from Times Square, at its Kingston terminus. He compared the possibilities of the Catskill Mt. Branch with the successful Durango-to-Silverton line in Colorado.

He foresaw its use for a weekend excursion line during the summer, with the possibility of fall foliage tours later in the year. During the ski season he said the line could be used to bring skiers from the metropolitan area and elsewhere, with a club car and entertainment as a possible "side attraction" to travelers.

Pevsner would also continue freight service on the line. Saying that the Penn-Central has "done its best to discourage" potential users in the past, he added that the freight service could be expanded, with the proper efforts. Along these same lines, transportation consultant Harris A. Gordon of Woodstock noted that the Environmental Protection Agency has developed statistics which indicate that 624 BTU's of energy are required to move a ton of freight one mile by rail, as contrasted to 2200 BTU's to carry the same weight an equal distance by motor vehicle over concrete roads.

Gordon, a member of the CCCD and one of the most vocal members of the group opposing abandonment, recently sent a letter to 30 legislators on the Hartke-Weicker bill in the Senate, known in the House of Representatives as the Adams bill. Copies of his letter went to such men as Hamilton Fish Jr., Abraham Ribicoff, Edmund Muskie, George McGovern, Birch Bayh, Edward Kennedy, Ogden Reid, Jacob Javits, and others. He urged support for the bill which would encourage federal maintenance of roadbeds, much as the highway system is maintained by public funds. This bill is expected to improve freight and passenger transportation and reduce need for superhighways and their resultant pollution.

Gordon noted that the bill is not "rail nationalization" in any sense, nor is it a "giveaway" to the bankrupt carriers. "The railroad industry," he said, "would retain all its rolling equipment, shops, classification yards, administrative offices and buildings. New capital acquired from sale of the roadbeds and the money freed from its allocations for track maintenance, replacement and repairs would restore the railroad companies to a healthy financial condition. They could continue with research and development, pay for road use a projected charge of 60 cents per 1,000 gross ton miles. This toll would offset the cost of maintenance and provide a return on investment."

Gordon noted that although the Penn Central claimed to have lost 18 cents for every dollar of revenue during 1971, systemwide, it lost only 2 cents per dollar of revenue on the branch which it sought to abandon. Even this relatively small loss could have been turned to profit, Gordon charged, "through efficient management. Testimony indicated that the users of the service had offered to pay a surcharge of $2.00 a ton on heavy grain movements," an offer which he said was disregarded by rail officials.

Pevsner, in discussing his ideas, said that the Catskill Mt. Branch was valued at $355,000, if sold as scrap. Anyone interested in the development of this line, or in other matters pertaining to the protection or economic development of the seven-county Catskill region, is invited to attend the monthly forum of the Catskill Center on April 14. The meeting begins at 10 a.m.

Summer in the Country Will Aid City Children

RED HOOK Some 16,000 city children will be looking forward to a country vacation this year through the Fresh Air Fund.

A recent meeting of Fund chairmen from the Hudson Valley and from New York City was held in Stony Brook to discuss ways to maintain quality in setting up summer vacations for these children in spite of rising costs.

This year the area including Red Hook, Rhinebeck, Staatsburg, Pine Plains, and surrounding areas has been designated as an individual "Friendly Town." Credit and thanks for this, according to Mrs. John Loda of Red Hook, must go to the many generous and enthusiastic families who have welcomed Fresh Air Fund children into their homes in years past.

On July 18, the Rhinecliff station of Penn Central will be the arrival point for a group of tired, but excited, youngsters.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the Fresh Air Fund Friendly Town Program may call Dr. and Mrs. John Loda in Red Hook or Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Burger in Staatsburg.

CSEA Exam Deadline Is Listed

KINGSTON Applications to take the Civil Service examination for position of assistant public works superintendent for the City of Kingston must be filed at City Hall before 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, April 11.

The position carries a salary range of $10,731 to $11,031. Training and experience acceptable include graduation from a recognized college with a bachelor's degree in engineering and two years of experience in street construction, public works or related construction experience; graduation from a recognized college with an associate degree in engineering technology plus six years of experience; graduation from high school and 10 years of experience; or an equivalent combination of training and experience in the three categories above.

A written test will be administered on May 12 in which applicants will be tested for their knowledge, skills and abilities in methods, materials, tools, terminology and equipment used in street construction and maintenance, interpretation of plans and specifications, estimates and contracts, administrative supervision, and construction and maintenance of sewers.

Rules of the New York State Civil Service will apply to the examination. Application forms and information may be obtained at the Municipal Civil Service Commission at City Hall, 1 Meadow Street.
